NEWS OF THE TOWN AND COUNTY.

Mr. J. F. Brannen has a fine patch of J. K. Fleming, of the D. & S., was in the city this week. Messrs. P. A. McKee & Co. have opened up business again at Dover. Quite a number of good fish are being caught at Roberts' mill just now.

Dr. Sample's baby has been very ill for some weeks, but is better now.

Master Perry Averitt was the first to remember us with sugar cane this season.

Mr. J. W. Sandlin has moved his big saw mill out on the D. & S., near Wood's field.

Information that the academy will open next Monday came in too late for our last issue.

Sheriff Donaldson has the finest trick horse in the county. Ask him what the "cream" can do.

Messrs. J. W. Wilson and C. A. Lanier changed places this week. They made the swap last spring. Those who wish to write uncle Jim Anthony may address him thus: "Rev. J. D. Anthony, Macon, Ga."

Mr. Ben Turner has gone to Atlanta to remain under the treatment of Dr. Calhoun for about ten days.

Mr. C. A. Lanier has bought out Mr. J. F. Field, and will do business next door to his old stand.

The town looks better since a good many weeds have been cut down on the square and along the streets.

The South End hotel on Tybee Island was burned down last Saturday night together with several cottages.

Mr. Owen Mathews, who has been spending the summer at home, left for Savannah last Thursday.

Mrs. Anna Johnson and her husband, Mr. J. H. Johnson, are visiting relatives in Savannah.

We received a fine porker already dressed from Mr. J. M. Jenkins of Zora, for which we return many thanks.

Miss Rose Averitt and Lola Cobb returned from Hialeah last week and report a very pleasant visit to Havana.

Mrs. Steve Williams went down to Savannah Wednesday afternoon to attend the funeral of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Sam Roach.

Messrs. E. D. Holland & Co. have been in the city this week, and they propose to sell them at a very close profit. Call at their store and see what they will offer you in the line of bargains.

Marshall Kendrick has solved the hog question. He has organized a trap gang out of the citizens and merchants on the corner near the pound. Whenever a hog is seen on the public square he gets him started towards this corner when the gang with large cotton bales rushes out and before the offending swine can get high him, he is covered by some one of the bales and securely penned until the marshal arrives with a string, lassoing it to his hind leg and drives him to the stile.

We had a rather exciting run-away race last Sunday. Mr. Martin M. Miller driving Mr. Maule's wagon down north Main when the coupling bolt broke and let the wagon body drop to the ground. The horse became frightened, and came down the street at a furious rate with the front wheels still on the ground. Turning at the corner, the front wheels struck the curb and the horse came to a stop. The driver escaped unhurt, but the wagon was damaged.

Old Mr. Burd, who lived near Cliveden last Monday. He had yellow jaundice for nearly six months, from which he never recovered.

Messrs. E. D. Holland & Co. have been in the city this week, and they propose to sell them at a very close profit. Call at their store and see what they will offer you in the line of bargains.

Close of the Melon Contest.
As the melon season is just about over we will give the result of our contest:
Miss Edith Taylor's melon, 38 lbs. 4 1/4 " 414
E. L. Smith's " 54 " 54
Nick Foss " 48 " 48
Moses Newton's " 72 " 72

The second melon brought by Mr. Newton was the largest one ever seen and doubtless the largest ever grown in the county. If it had been pulled before it became so ripe it would have weighed ten pounds more. This gives Mr. Newton the first and third prizes; Mr. Foss the second and Mr. Smith the fourth, and they have been credited with the same. We appreciate the contributions to this contest, and now offer four pounds of sugar cane to the winner of each category brought to the store.

If it had been pulled before it became so ripe it would have weighed ten pounds more. This gives Mr. Newton the first and third prizes; Mr. Foss the second and Mr. Smith the fourth, and they have been credited with the same. We appreciate the contributions to this contest, and now offer four pounds of sugar cane to the winner of each category brought to the store.

E. L. Smith's " 54 " 54
Nick Foss " 48 " 48
Moses Newton's " 72 " 72

The second melon brought by Mr. Newton was the largest one ever seen and doubtless the largest ever grown in the county. If it had been pulled before it became so ripe it would have weighed ten pounds more. This gives Mr. Newton the first and third prizes; Mr. Foss the second and Mr. Smith the fourth, and they have been credited with the same. We appreciate the contributions to this contest, and now offer four pounds of sugar cane to the winner of each category brought to the store.
